

How to Create a Video Interview Question

Video is the new currency of communication, learning, and knowledge assessment. ProProfs puts an end to passive quizzing by introducing the 'Record Video' question type. This question type is popularly used for video interviews and allows your quiz takers to respond by uploading or recording a live video.

Let's quickly go through some examples:

- Video interview questions can be used by recruiters & hiring managers to capture candidate responses through video and scale the hiring process.

For example, while taking an assessment test, the candidate comes across an open question like: Can you tell us about yourself? They can simply click the "Record" button and answer it.

- Businesses can create video questions to ask customers for video testimonials or feedback.

For example, when asked the question - 'Please tell us what you like the most about our product', the customer can simply click 'Record' to share their thoughts. These videos can then be downloaded and added to your testimonials page.

- Language teachers & corporate trainers can ask learners to "Record a video answer" as an engaging question type as well as a deeper way to assess personality, style, and knowledge.

For example, students can answer the question 'How would you greet someone in German?' by recording their video response. Or corporate trainers may ask hiring managers to "Please record a video of yourself explaining what our company does."

- Marketing professionals can use 'record a video question' for interviewing authors, entrepreneurs, and celebrities for their social media campaigns.

For example, won't it be really easy for an author to answer the question - 'When did you first realize you wanted to be a writer?' by just clicking the 'Record' button and sharing their experience with the world.

Benefits of the video question type in a quiz:

- Scale hiring with video interview questions
- A fun and engaging way for users to answer questions
- A great tool for learners and students to present their ideas, projects
- A simple way to request customers to record video testimonials
